

ANNEMIEK COLLIN

sculptor . fine arts

Annemiek Collin is a sculptor. She graduated from the Maastricht Art school specializing in monumental sculpture. Later on she extended her scope by obtaining a teaching degree at the Arnhem school of arts.

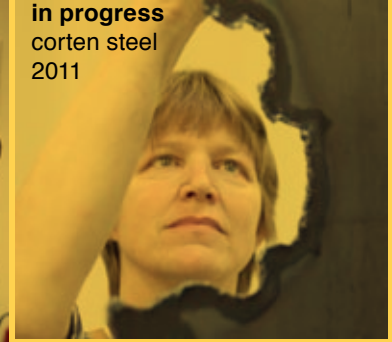

Aside from pursuing her own inspirations Annemiek usually works in commission. Her commissioned monumental works of art are as a rule integrated in their environment and created in cooperation with the principal.

Annemiek is renowned for her portraits: she passionately captures the 'essence' of the subject, meanwhile allowing likeness to play its obvious role.

Her free work is inspired by nature as well as architecture. Elements such as growth and decay, reflection and connection, persecution and shelter, excitement and harmony pervade her sculptures.

Annemiek's ideas are expressed in bronze, ceramics and a diversity of sheet metal and occasionally in a combination of these materials.
